IDAHO WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL ANALYST
OVERVIEW; Matt Farina, Analyst, LSO Budget and Policy Analysis

Mr. Farina described the agency provides support in three areas:

- Workforce Development, which includes increasing public awareness of available education and training, helping to maintain a highly skilled workforce and meeting the requirements of the Workforce Investment Board as set forth in the Workforce Innovations Opportunity Act, and to develop and oversee procedures, criteria and performance measures for the Workforce Development Training Fund;
- Workforce Training Grants, which are grants from workforce training and apprenticeships to provide access for individuals impacted by the pandemic for training aligned to employer needs. These funds were first appropriated in FY 2023; and
- Childcare Infrastructure Grants, which provided supplemental funding for child care expansion grants.

He summarized the appropriation and expenditures from FY 2019, which was the first year the agency was appropriated, through FY 2023 (see attachment 9). He remarked the agency's appropriation for workforce development has remained relatively stable across the time they've been an agency, with the large increases due to childcare and workforce grants. Mr. Farina explained the agency does not use General Fund dollars as they have a dedicated fund source that comes from three percent of unemployment insurance taxes and federal funds from providing support and managing multiple federal grants.
